MOMU & NO ES

GOD ARCHIVES YOU

Doing research on culture, art, economics and structures as prosthetic elements of contemporary communities Momu & No Es arrive to one reality that is merged in their works with their invented narratives and shared iconographies in order to question and visualize the fragile borders between the story and the understanding of the surrounding.

JOEY RAMONE

For the stand of JOEY RAMONE in ARCOmadrid Momu & No Es present a new project entitled God Archives You, which operates as a sort of a chain of questions concatenating in a sculptural shape. The installation looks over a series of philosophical and art history concepts as the Stoicism and the Op art becoming lifestyle. On this narration Momu & No Es want to picture the nowadays coexistence and the co-distance between questions that can become turning points of our understanding of our surroundings or new cores of knowledge. Such concepts include, the binomial of Eugenics and Emotional respect, the Elite and the excess of humans, and the viral being, the chaos magic and the Darwinist power of the memes.

The installation discusses the space as well by combining the use and meanings of the dimensions, with the use of 2D forms as flat images and the 3D ones as volumetric elements.

All the works combined conclude to the following statement:

*Wellcome to the Center of constant awareness, where Everyone is starting a exciting stage of life except you. Be part of The new stoicism, because all we need is Emotional respect. Excess of humans' gathering is at Totem Awareness. Dvd is Dead.
